

Apply Now >

Give Now >

Employment >

Department of Learning and Performance Systems

College of Education > Department of Learning and Performance Systems > Lifelong Learning and Adult Education > Faculty > Ian Baptiste

Ian Baptiste

Ed.D., Northern Illinois University, 1994
Associate Professor of Education
Professor-in-Charge of Adult Education Program

ieb1@psu.edu

Full CV Available Here

"They say I'm entitled to my own opinions They lie!
Nothing gives me the right to opinions I am unwilling to defend."

Dr. Ian Baptiste is an Associate Professor of Education and Professor-in-Charge of the Adult Education program at The Pennsylvania State University. He was born in Trinidad and raised in Grenada (two island-nations in the Caribbean). He holds a B.Sc., in Agriculture; a master's degree in Education; and a doctorate in Adult and Continuing Education. Professor Baptiste taught at National-Louis University (Chicago) for three and a half years, and chaired the department of Adult Education for most of his tenure there. He joined the Adult Education program at Penn State in August 1997, and has been serving as its chair since 2003.